Successful—Given only a 50-50 chance to live through a delicate operation on her heart, little blue-eyed, blonde Dolores "Dolly" Boardman, 6, of South Hadley, smiles her happiness over the successful outcome. The operation closed an opening in the child's enlarged heart and gives her a new lease on life. The little girl's stepfather, PFC Fred Cronin, was rushed from Europe to the Children's Hospital here, where the operation was performed, to give her encouragement.

Shoe Strike in Brockton

More than 900 employes in 27 Brockton shoe factories went out on strike today threatening complete shutdown of the industry, which employs 14,000, within three days.

The walkout started when 500 lasters quit work in support of their demand for a 25 per cent pay boost. During the day they were joined by more than 400 vampers and stitchers, who walked out in sympathy. The strike was voted at a mass meeting despite a warning from Alphonse W. Samson, president of the Brotherhood of Shoe and Allied Craftsmen of Brockton, that the charter for the lasters' local would be revoked.

He labeled the walkout "wildcat, unauthorized and unsanctioned," and said it was voted despite a decision by the local last Sunday that the brotherhood continue negotiations with the Southeastern Massachusetts Shoe Manufacturers' Ass'n on the wage boosts.

Brig. Gen. Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, said he was awaiting official information on the dispute and would take no action until he was notified.

The workers rejected a compromise offer of 15 per cent pay raises, based on the rates for different types of lasting. They reported this morning, and after telling each management they would not work until satisfactory grants were made, walked off the jobs.

Officials said the lasters' walkout would tie up the entire industry in Brockton within three days if no settlement is reached. They said it takes about that time for the lasting operation until a shoe is finished.

The strikers, at a mass meeting in Lithuanian hall, Montello, instructed the price committee to resume negotiations with the management.

G M Workers Vote to Strike By 6 to 1

DETROIT, Oct. 25 (AP)—General Motors employes in plants throughout the country voted, 70,853 to 12,437, yesterday in favor of a strike.

The union currently is engaged in negotiations with General Motors Corp. on the 30 per cent wage rate demands.

Reuther said yesterday's vote was "a mandate" to the union leadership to press the demands "to a successful conclusion."

There was no immediate statement on the results of the vote from General Motors.

As the ballots in the General Motors vote were being counted, a strike vote was being conducted by the NLRB among employes of 22 Chrysler plants.

Neither General Motors nor Chrysler permitted NLRB to conduct balloting on company property, so special voting booths were set up in union halls, school houses and other places. The Ford Motor Co's 109,000 employes will be polled Nov. 7.

While the General Motors voting was in progress, the corporation and the UAW-CIO resumed negotiations, but no break in the wage deadlock was in sight.

3-City Strike Ties Airlines

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—American Airlines today cancelled all flights on the New York-Chicago-Detroit runs because of a three-city strike by mechanics and maintenance workers.

At the same time, leaders of CIO's United Automobile Workers' Union declared American's entire continental system would be tied up by nightfall.

The company first cancelled the New York-Chicago flights when 155 Chicago workers joined more than 600 others who had walked out in New York. The Detroit shutdown came a few hours later when 15 ground servicemen at Detroit's city airport joined the strike.

Later, an airlines official said four flights from New York to Detroit were scheduled beginning at 4:34 p. m. "in order to carry out our commitment to carry the U. S. mail." A transcontinetal flight from New York to Los Angeles, via Chicago, was scheduled at 5:55 p. m.

The UAW strike against American Export, the transatlantic subsidiary of American Airlines, brought immediate action in Washington, with two representatives of the National Mediation Board ready to enter the dispute. Both flew here and are hopeful of arranging a meeting between the factions.

Maintenance workers walked out after a negotiating committee reported they could not reach an agreement on wage increases. But jurisdictional troubles also were involved for Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO "ransport Workers' Union, called the strike "illegal." He claimed his union, instead of the UAW, was the workers' representative and ordered his men to cross picket lines.

Warner Studio Picketed for Damage Claims

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25 (AP)—The movie strike, which has kept this film capital in a turmoil for 33 weens, ended for al. the industry except Warner Bros. today.

Approximately 400 pickets appeared at Warners' Burbank studio this morning and strike leader Herbert K. Sorrell gave this explanation for continuance of the walkout.

"We are not classing Warner Bros. with the other producers, because they used tear gas and water. We are asking Warners to indemnify every person hurt on this picket line.

"Approximately 300 persons will have claims, three or four who were seriously hurt, for as much as $500 each. Warner Bros. are going to pay for this. They can afford it. Nobody wants to work for them until they pay up."

One striker, Isaac A. Gibbs, 56, was found injured when he and others attempted to block a car driving up to the gates. Gibbs was knocked down. His leg was injured and he was taken to a hospital.

After this incident the massed strikers surged toward the gate, yelling and booing, but after the car entered the studio policemen slammed the gates closed.

Hub Police Snap Into Action To Find Little Ellen's Dog

Every cop in Boston was looking for a dog today because a sick little girl asked her daddy to find her pet.

Ellen O'Brien, 11-year-old daughter of Patrolman William O'Brien of Station 16, told her father she didn't mind being sick but losing "Brownie" was too much.

O'Brien left their Bagnal st., Allston, home and told fellow officers at Back Bay station. The wheels of the law were immediately whirled into the special groove reserved for little girl problems and every facility of the department was ordered to help.

Brownie, stub-tailed dog of indeterminate lineage, disappeared while out walking with Mrs. O'Brien. It was last seen in Franklin st., Allston.

Ellen's chums at St. Anthony's School formed searching squads and were scouring the neighborhood.

The dog, a female, is about 18 months old and very friendly.

One Miss, One Direct Hit!

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 25 (AP)—A skunk, repaying courtesy with discourtesy, sent three persons to a hospital today.

Police reported Miss Beulah Root of Tilton was taking a driving lesson. She saw an animal in the road and went to the right to avoid hitting it.

Everything would have been okay, police said, but she looked out the window to se if she had missed the skunk. She had, but the skunk didn't miss her, police claim. Miss Root lost control of the car and it hit a pole.

Miss Root, Arlene Haskell, 27, and Leo Durande, 25, both of Tilton, were taken to a hospital where it was said their injuries were not serious.

Battling her way against headwinds which reached 90 miles an hour, the giant American Airlines flagship London today landed safely at Gander Field, Newfoundland, on her history-making flight establishing commercial air transportation between Boston and Europe.

The London reached Newfoundland at 1:25 p. m. and took off shortly after for Bedford airport and successful completion of the first round trip.

The huge ship made an unscheduled stop at Iceland to refill fuel tanks. She left Iceland at 1:28 a. m., three hours and 13 minutes late.

Airline officials said she was expected to arrive at Bedford at the scheduled hour of 7:30 p. m. today.

Austen Lake, Boston American columnist aboard the London, in a radio message to the Yankee Network News Service, said only four passengers were making the Britain-to-Boston flight.

He said the other passengers besides himself were Gov. Tobin, Richard E. Fiske of the Associated Press, and Gael Sullivan, second assistant postmaster general.

"It's been a wonderful trip despite the weather and everybody is fine," Lake told Leland Bickford, head of the Yankee Network News Service.

"We climbed up to 8000 feet to get above the storm and things weren't bad at all. We went along wonderfully and there wasn't the slightest bit of trouble."

Lake said he was looking forward to the time when flying across the Atlantic would be "just a routine matter."

Gov. Tobin and Lake stopped off in Ireland to visit the Governor's relatives at Mitchelltown, County Cork, and did not make the trip to England. They went aboard for the westbound trip at Rineanna Airport, Ireland, at 6:55 p. m. (EST) yesterday.

When the ship reaches Bedford tonight she will have completed the long trip in less than 50 hours.

Elapsed flying time on the trip from Boston to England was 18 hours, 20 minutes, American Airlines announced, and they expected the plane to make corresponding speed on its return.

It's Liquor Capital, Too

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—A preacher's contention Washington is the liquor-drinkingest city in the nation was backed today with statistics.

Figures show that a Washingtonian drinks four times more hard liquor than does the average American citizen.

Dr. Clinton N. Howard, superintendent of the International Reform Federation, quoted these these statistics:

"According to internal revenue records, Washington in 1942 had the highest per capita consumption of spirits of any subdivision of the country, being four times over the national average. The records for 1944 are considerably higher.

"While per capita drinking average in the country for hard liquor was 1.08 gallons in 1942; it was 4.42 gallons in Washington. Consumption of beer for country was 14.16 gallons, and in Washington, 16.80."

Evicted Family Of 8 Finds Haven for Night

After spending the night in their family car, Louis Golding found shelter today for his wife and six small children in the home of a neighbor. Tonight he hopes to obtain living quarters to replace the home from which they were evicted in Cummings rd., Newton.

The family and their furnishings were put out of the house yesterday because the owner needed the premises. They had been given six months notice but were unable to find another house.

They may find a solution to their problem in the offer of a Newtonville man, who came forward to say he had a place which they could move into immediately if they wished. Golding will visit him after he finishes work today.

"It was nice of our neighbors to take us in," Golding said today, "but they have a large family, too, and we can't impose on them for long. At least the kids will have a roof over their heads tonight and maybe something will break by tomorrow."

The tired and disconsolate family found shelter after the children had huddled in the car and tried fitfully to sleep last night.

Held as Miss Rodman Killer

A former inmate of Boston State Hosspital, Joseph T. Galvin, 29, of Dorchester, today was charged with the murder of Miss Sarah Rodman, 43, who was beaten to death Oct. 8 within a few feet of her Fottler rd., Mattapan, home.

Galvin was arraigned before Judge Lynch in Dorchester court and pleaded not guilty. He was ordered held without bail for the grand jury and was taken to Charles st. jail.

He also pleaded not guilty to a charge of unarmed robbery which police said was based on his alleged admission he snatched a woman's handbag.

Capt. Bernard J. Graham of Station 19 said Galvin told him he snatched the handbag in the same neighborhood where Miss Rodman was slain. Galvin denied any violence was used Graham said.

Graham said Galvin admitted taking $3.68 from the handbag and tossing the bag into shrubbery on Hazelton st. A search by police for the missing bag was fruitless.

According to Graham, the accused man said he slept in a vacant lot in the South End the night he allegedly grabbed the handbag. The following day he hitchhiked to New Haven, where he unsuccessfully sought work as a railroad laborer.

Continuing to New York, he worked two days in a hospital kitchen, Graham quoted Galvin. He returned to Boston and walked into Mattapan station when he learned police were looking for him, Graham said.

Galvin, according to police, was committed to State Hospital several years ago after he allegedly attempted to commit suicide while serving a drunkenness term at Deer Island.

Galvin was questioned for hours by Graham, Lt. Francis G. Wilson of the homicide squad and Sgt. William Healey of Station 19.

Miss Rodman, pharmacist in the Central sq., Cambridge, store of the Liggett Drug Co., was hurrying to the bedside of her dying mother when she was killed. Her mother died the day after her daughter's murder.

Butter, All Fats Down To 8 Points Sunday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—The OPA announced today that ration values on butter, margarine, lard, shortening and oils will be cut four points a pound next Sunday. For all of these products the new value, effective through Dec. 1, will be eight points a pound.

Current point costs will be maintained during the new period for all prime cuts of beef, veal and lamb, and for lean cuts of pork. Lower grades of beef, veal and lamb will continue ration-free.

Only meat changes are reductions of two to four points a pound for six fatty pork cuts and for barbecued pork.

The point reductions for butter, margarine and other fats and oils are possible because of a much improved supply situation, said OPA Administrator Chester Bowles.

Five more stamps in ration Book 4 will become valid Nov. 1 for buying meats and fats. These include the last four red stamps—W1, X1, Y1 and Z1—and green stamp N8, the top-right coupon on the last sheet of green stamps remaining in Book 4.

If rationing continues in December, five more green stamps will be validated at the start of that month, OPA said.

Compton Tells Why Japs Failed To Build A-Bomb

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Japan was working on development of an atomic bomb during the war, Senators were advised today. The efforts failed because:

1—Japanese physicists reached mistaken conclusions.

2—B-29's demolished the experimental laboratory.

Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, told a Senate military-commerce subcommittee about the Japanese activities. On a visit to Japan he checked up for the United States Government on what Japanese science accomplished during the war.

Asked by Sen. Magnuson (D.) of Washington about reports the Japanese had a "death ray," Compton said they had a magnetic ray which would kill a rabbit at about 30 yards.

"They told us muskrats were much more resistant," he added with a laugh.

Compton dismissed as intended for "home psychology" the balloons which Japan floated through the stratosphere to this country with small bombs attached.

Compaton was one of two scientists who testified in opposition to clamping secrecy on atomic energy and nuclear physics. They said such a step would be fatal to this country's national security.

Dr. Henry Dew. Smith, Princeton University physicist, put it this way:

"Secrecy in nuclear physics will smother the hope of progress not only in that science but in all the other sciences . . . continued secrecy means national scientific suicide."

Meanwhile Democratic leaders deferred until tomorrow a decision on the much-sought-after chairmanship of the Senate Special Atomic Energy Committee.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky was out of town and aides said his recommendations would not be ready until tomorrow.

Kennedy Hits Tax Grip

Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to England, today told members of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts federal income taxes have a strangle-hold on business and must be softened if we are to have postwar prosperity.

"Federal income taxes have virtually put a stop to the growth and development of new undertakings," he warned 1800 members at the annual meeting of the organization at Hotel Statler.

"Such taxes are exacting so large a percentage of income on investment that few will dare to risk money on any undertaking."

He then pointed out the destructive effect of high taxation.

"These taxes take away such a large percentage of the income to investors in the case of ventures that succeed, that it is poor business to risk money for such small net returns.

"Few people understand this. We read that so-and-so has an income of $50,000, or $100,000, or $200,000 a year. Surely such persons can take a flier in a new undertaking. But let us look at the hard facts.

"If the income is net income, the federal and Massachusetts governments will leave the $50,000 man only $18,000 arter taxes, the $100,000 man only $23,000 and the $200,000 man but $36,000. This leaves them a lot less to spend than is generally realized."

The former ambassador then went on to show if each invested $10,000 in a venture which returned $1000 in dividends, they would only break even or lose a small amount on their investment after taxes had taken their toll.

Kennedy urged a State Department of Commerce and impartial co-operation between business, labor and government as the only means of giving Massachusetts postwar prosperity. He warned that we have lost many of our finest industries and stand to lose more unless we can bring our machinery up to date.

Harold J. Walter, treasurer of the Uxbridge Worsted Co., was elected president of the association, succeeding Roe S. Clark of Springfield, who had served for the last two years.

H. J. Walter

Other officers include Ira Mosher, chairman of the board; William H. Collins, first vice-president; Joseph P. Spang, Jr., second vice-president; Samuel T. MacQuarrie, treasurer; Roy F. Williams, executive vice-president, and John E. Daniels, legislative secretary.

In another address, George W. Romney, general manager of the Automobile Manufacturers Ass'n, said union demands would touch off a period of inflation which would "make the last one look like child's play."

"This union demand," he said, "would directly affect the pocketbook of every American."

Romney said President Roosevelt's special committee had reported the cost of living increased 30 per cent during the war.

"Members of the National War Labor Board," he continued, "say that during the war, the average straight-time hourly wage rates increased 36.7 per cent. In addition, due to longer hours, take-home pay at those rates increased about 51 per cent.

"The irony of it all is that unions are deliberately sabotaging their own future. The American customer cannot be kicked around. People won't buy new cars at excessive prices. That means that union members in the automobile industry will be out of a job."

Also addressing the luncheon meeting was William H. Collins, general manager here of Bethlehem Steel's Quincy and Hingham shipyards, who reported on war productions records.

Collins said from Sept. 1, 1939, the two yards built 341 ships. The payroll force started with 7500 workers and was built to a peak of 52,000. The yearly payroll increased from $13,000,000 to a top of $174,000,000. Employes contributed $1,100,000 to charity drives and bought $54,000,000 worth of war bonds.

New Angle Parking Granted for Buses

By a 3-to-2 vote, the Boston Traffic Commission today granted angle-parking for the buses of the New England Greyhound Co. for a distance of 50 feet from their station in Providence st.

Voting favorably were Chairman William P. Hickey, Robert Curley and John Donoghue. Opposed were Police Com. Thomas F. Sullivan and Park Com. William P. Long. At the same time it was announced a hearing will be held Nov. 8 at police headquarters on Hickey's proposal to cut in half the two-hour parking permitted from 1 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Vet Waits Ship, Tiny Waits Crate

PFC Johnny Glynn of Wachusett st., North Weymouth, expects to sail home from Le Havre next week but his pet Tiny, a giant German shepherd dog, will have to wait.

In a letter received today by his wife, Mrs. Pauline Glynn, the tank destroyer veteran said he would be leaving Nov. 1 or 2 for home and a reunion with her, and his first glimpse of his year-old daughter, Mary.

But Tiny, he explained, would be crated and shipped to him on a later boat by the American Express Co. in Paris, where the dog is being cared for until space aboard another vessel is available.

There will be no bother about getting him here for the Quincy American Legion Post is raising a fund to defray Tiny's expenses.

Judge OK's Hi, Hello as Proper Greeting

OFFICER DENNIS McCARTHY, LOUISE CLARK, ELIZABETH WHEELWRIGHT
Marine Hails Girls; Policeman Hails Marine—Into Court
INP by Bill Jones

"Hi" and "Hello" are two perfectly nice words, it was decided today in municipal court by Judge Joseph E. Donovan.

The judge allowed it might be bad manners to say these little words to strangers, but he couldn't agree it was offensive.

So he found George F. Wheeler, 32, ex-marine of Wayland, a student at Northern law school, not guilty of accosting and annoying by offensive talk.

Two Beacon Hill young ladies, who had him summoned to court, felt insulted on Oct. 16 by the greeting, "Hi!"

Elizabeth Wheelwright, teacher at Cambridge School and Belmont Day School, and her roommate at Pinckney st., Louise Clark, a student, both testified Wheeler spoke as they were returning home.

They were so annoyed they summoned a policeman to watch the next night. Sure enough, Wheeler was there and said "Hello, can't you talk to me a few moments?"

"Please, I'll never do it again," said Wheeler when they said they would bring him to court.

"I thought it an excellent idea to bring him to court," testified Miss Wheelwright.

"Ditto," said Miss Clark, in substance.

208 Blind Boys, Girls 'See' Wasp

Two hundred and eight blind boys and girls from the Perkins Institution were the first visitors to step aboard the USS Wasp today when the huge carrier was opened for inspection at Commonwealth Pier.

The boys and girls, among them Jimmy Osborne, the talented English boy pianist protege of the Ninth Air Force, were taken aboard before the regular visiting hours, which were set from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. today.

The day's fleet celebration activities also included the opening of other naval vessels in Boston for public inspection and the arrival of the submarine Mackerel, last of the 14 ships to be berthed here for Saturday's Navy Day celebration.

Other ships opened to the public today included the submarines Drum and Paddle at India wharf; the submarine Whale at Central wharf; the invasion transport Hunter Marshall and the heavy cruiser Fall River at Commonwealth pier, South Boston.

It will be open house tomorrow aboard the battleships North Carolina and New Mexico at South Boston Navy Yard and the submarine Mackerel at Central wharf.

Jimmy Osborne was one of the most interested of the group from Perkins Institution, because of his familiarity with planes at the bomber base near his English home.

"These planes aren't so big," he exclaimed after feeling the propellers and wings of the ships lined up on the flight deck. "The one I flew over from England on was much bigger."

The children, aged 8 to 18, were in charge of Dr. Gabriel Farrell and Allen W. Sherman of the Institution.

Their first stop was on the hangar deck where they were split into small groups and escorted by crew members, who explained the operations of life rafts, quick-change motors, parachutes, propellers, bombs, torpedoes and other equipment on display.

The children were allowed to handle the various exhibits and their biggest thrill came when they pulled the triggers of unloaded .45 caliber submachine guns, which Marine Cpl. Dick McGuirk of Pittsburgh explained had been carried ashore from the Wasp into Tokyo.

They had another thrill when given a ride on the ship's plane elevators to the flight deck, which amazed them.

"This is twice as long as I thought," commented Carl Raymond, of Milton, Vt., as he paced the deck.

Most of the children, however, confined their conversation to "oohs" and "ahs" when they realized the size of the deck.

They were especially interested in the noises aboard ship, such as riveters and welders at work, and asked for each noise to be explained by their sailor escorts, who seemed to enjoy the visit as much as their young guests.

The captain said the Wasp would be taken to New Jersey after the Navy week celebration to be fitted for duty as a transport returning troops from Europe. Five-tiered bunks will be installed in the hangar and gallery decks, enabling the ship to transport 5000 troops.

Truman in N. Y. Saturday For Navy Day Fete

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Naval craft ranging from Uncle Sam's mightiest fighters to patrol vessels, left New York harbor today and steamed into the Hudson river to their anchorages for the most spectacular Navy Day, Saturday, in the city's history.

Fifty fleet units will anchor along the Hudson for review Saturday by President Truman.

Rear Adm. Monroe Kelly, commandant of the Third Naval District, said 1200 Navy planes would roar overhead of the President's review ship.

One of the latest arrivals was the 45,000-ton carrier Midway, which arrived last night, 24 hours ahead of schedule.

President Truman arrives early Saturday and will commission the carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt as his first official Navy Day act.

Escorted by a large motorcade, the President will tour miles of city streets and attend a Navy Day celebration in Central Park. Then he will board the battleship Missouri for luncheon with Adm. Jonas H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet.

Imogene Trial Demanded

HARTFORD, Ct., Oct. 25 (AP)—A spokesman at the office of Gov. Baldwin said today a letter had been received by the governor from Mrs. Mary Kovacs of Norwalk, mother of Seaman Albert Kovacs who was shot to death by Mrs. Imogene Stevens at New Canaan last June.

At Norwalk, a family spokesman said the letter was an appeal from Mrs. Kovacs urging the governor to "use his influence" in reopening the case.

Manslaughter charges against Mrs. Stevens were dropped Oct. 18 in Fairfield County Superior Court.

Three ranges now in production are priced at $116.95, $177.75 and $259.75, same as in 1942. Two seven-cubic-foot refrigerator models now in production are to be sold at $151.50 and $188.25. A six-foot model scheduled for production shortly will be $133.75.

Briton Would Put Off U.S. Loan Negotiation

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Demand for temporary suspension of negotiations for an American loan to Britain was raised in the House of Commons today by Robert Boothby, Conservative.

The House cheered when Boothby declared "economic dismemberment of the British Empire and abolition of the sterling bloc" in return for an American loan were "quite definitely too high (a price) and we ought not to pay it."

Peasant Girl 'Saint' Escaped SS Troops

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 25 (INS)—The story of how Germany's "saint" peasant, Theresa Neumann, who suffers wounds similar to those borne by Christ, escaped Nazi SS troops during the Hitler purge, was told here today by Harold Dittmann, chaplain's assistant.

Dittmann, 22, now discharged, visited the girl at her home in Konnersreuth, Germany. On three occasions he said he witnessed bleeding nail wounds on her hands and feet and saw tears of blood drop from her eyes.

According to Dittmann, when the Nazis began stamping out Christianity they ordered priests in Theresa's town to have her "done away with," but the priests refused and storm troopers decided to use their own tactics.

"She was in ecstasy when SS men arrived," Dittmann said. "She'd never walked during one of the periods before, but this time she went to open the door for them with the crown-of-thorns wound in her head bleeding, and with blood dripping from her hands, feet and side.

"Her bleeding, outstretched hands greeted the Nazis. They turned and ran. They never came back."

"I had heard the story of Theresa Neumann in school and laughed, but you can't see it and not believe in her."

The woman lives with her parents, sister and brother in one of the poorest houses in the village. She is cared for by Konnersreuh priests.

"Theresa is supposed not to have eaten in 17 years," said Dittman. "When I first visited her the chaplain asked if we might see her wounds. She took off the little mittens she wears and in the center of each hand was an open wound about an inch long.

"It was nearly noon, on the first Friday of the month, the time when her ecstasies usually begin. She suddenly stiffened and started to grit her teeth and moan. There was bloody sweat on her wrists in the same place where the ropes on Christ would have been tied.

"With her wrists still crossed, she started saying things Christ said at the trial before Pontius Pilate. Her hands went to her side and her wounds started bleeding, blood pouring from nine tiny wounds around her head."

2 Brookline Girls Held as Aides of Holdup Suspects

Two Brookline girls, one the wife of a sailor serving overseas, today were charged with being accessories to two men suspected of a series of holdups in Greater Boston during the past two months.

Mrs. Jean Daily, 22, of Davis ave., wife of the sailor, and Mary J. Julian, 22, of Kent st., pleaded not guilty in Roxbury court and waived examination. Judge Samuel Eisenstadt ordered them held in $1500 each for the grand jury.

Lt. James V. Crowley said the girls were "fronts" for the men, who wore naval uniforms. He said they obtained cars and meals for the suspected pair.

Crowley said the two girls kept company with the men for the past two months.

Atty. Benjamin Chesky, counsel for Miss Julian, said his client knew nothing about her alleged companions and "thought they were just good fellows."

Authorities said the men were Arthur E. Stegeman and James T. Kerrigan, wanted on warrants charging them with the $1400 holdup of the Egyptian Theater, Brighton, Oct. 8.

Kerrigan is also sought on a warrant from Dorchester charging him with armed robbery of a Columbia rd., Dorchester, tavern, police said.

Court Plays Solomon For Girl

Emma Lenz, 14, was unwilling to choose between her divorced parents in Suffolk Probate Court today and left it for Judge Mahoney to decide who should have the custody of herself and her brother.

Her mother, Mrs. Anna M. Lenz, Templeton way, Dorchester, was divorced by Carl Lenz, Ellery st., Cambridge, in Reno, and was seeking modification of a decree under which he was given custody of the children.

She testified the son, Philip, had left the father and returned to her, saying he no longer wished to live with him. She said she wished her daughter's return, too, in order to give her religious training she was not receiving.

Emma was asked which parent she preferred to live with and she hesitated, then said:

"I don't want to choose between them. I want to leave it to you to decide."

After conferring with the girl in his lobby, Judge Mahoney summoned the parents to the bench.

"I'm much concerned about the welfare of these children," he said. "Philip doesn't want to live with his father and he would be better off with his mother. I'm going to give her the custody of both of them but I want them to keep associating with their father."

"I'm glad you won, mother," the girl whispered as they left the courtroom.

Hub Firms Buy 5 Maine Mills

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 25 (AP)—Sale of New England industries' Maine properties, including five textile mills, to the First Boston Corp. and Coffin & Burr, Inc., of Boston for $1,650,000 was approved today by Federal Judge John A. Peters.

Peters said the sale plan was "fair and equitable."

Peter A. Isaacson, Lewiston attorney, who said he represented Allen L. Golfine of Winthrop, told the court he considered the properties worth "a good deal more money than offered." He later offered $17,500,000.

MRS. JEAN DAILY

MARY J. JULIAN

Irksome Ghost

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25 (INS)—John M. Larsen, 63-year-old San Francisco house painter, won a divorce because of spirits—but not the alcoholic variety.

Larsen told the court that his dead wife's spirit was so strong that it made his present wife, Florence, a spiritualist, "sick in mind and in body."

Superior Judge L. I. Harris, granting the divorce, said:

"I have granted many divorces for spirits before, but never spirits like this."

Parking Laws Ruin Trade, Says Curley

Cong. James M. Curley today struck out at the city's perplexing traffic problems, promising merchants, property owners and business men that his election as mayor will bring an end to the old bugaboo of parking.

"I have made parking facilities one of the essential steps in my program for a rebuilding of Boston," he declared. "I guarantee the people that my election will mean adequate parking for the thousands of shoppers who seek to come to Boston daily.

"Boston needs many improvements, but none is more important that the elimination of traffic congestion and the providing of enough parking areas to meet public demand. I propose to solve the problem."

George P. Oakes, Roslindale Republican who has been supporting the mayoral candidacy of Michael Paul Feeney, today announced his endorsement of former Fire Com. William Arthur Reilly. Oakes said his interest in Feeney's candidacy ended because "it is now apparent his objective is to hold Hyde Park in line for Curley as he did four years ago."

Oakes, president of the Metropolitan Hill Civic Ass'n, and a member of the Roslindale Board of Trade, the Hyde Park Board of Trade, and the Central Club of Jamaica Plain, expressed belief that the mayoralty race has narrowed down to a two-man fight between Curley and Reilly.

Mayor Kerrigan attacked Reilly's record as fire commissioner and charged that he was a political protege of Curley's when he ran for school committee.

In a campaign radio address, Kerrigan asserted he had refrained from making "wild and senseless promises," and promised a continuation of the "sound and sensible administration" of the last 10 months. He maintained that the city is sound financially "despite the heavy burden placed on it by some previous administrations."

Candidate Joseph Lee protested that "Kerrigan is telling what he'll do for the veterans, but the veterans already are working for me." Lee said the rapid release of veterans was giving impetus to his campaign. He added that he represented the younger voters and "not the political elements who have dominated the city so long and so badly."

Promising a lower tax rate, lower assessments and a businesslike administration, Candidate Feeney spoke at a number of outdoor rallies. He charged that Boston should have the greatest airport in the East, and that the city had slipped from fifth to ninth place "because of poor administrations in City Hall."

Youth was urged to support the candidacy of Governor's Councilor John J. Sawtelle by Paul Maguire, former president of the Boston College Student Body. Maguire declared in a radio address that Sawtelle, "father of six children, three of them veterans, is an experienced public official who does things for others and constantly works to improve the lot of young men and young women."

"I JUST GOT A DREAM OF A DRESS"...

"I've been dreaming of a dress like this and now my dream has come true." This fascinating brown-eyed midget who told us this story is quite proficient in the sketching business and is probably a budding young "Tangley" or "McNein." Absolutely bubbling over with exuberance with her "bargain find," she exclaimed, "Imagine finding my dream dress in Filene's Basement for only $6.95." It was a new sky blue and tropical lime colored, tissue-like broadcloth with fashionable high neck, cap sleeves and the blouse in 6 inch blocks of the two contrasting colors. "I'm so happy I came down here," she continued—it was her first visit to Filene's Basement—and now she's a friend for life because, as she so aptly expressed it, she found her "dream dress" on the bargain racks. The label on the dress was one of the "Who's Who" names in the fashion business and you can be sure the Filene Basement price was much less because the style had been discontinued by the maker busy creating new advance Fall lines. Another typical example of how this unique Bargain Wonderland with its amazement of savings frequently offers values so fantastically outstanding they turn dreams into reality!

Pius' Vote Plea Endorsed by Sybil Holmes

Massachusetts' most distinguished woman lawyer, Sybil H. Holmes, former assistant attorney-general and first woman elected to the Massachusetts Senate, today joined the ranks of leaders all over the world who are giving strong endorsement to Pope Pius' recent call to women urging them to use their influence at the polls.

Terming the Pope's speech one of the great pronouncements of modern times, Miss Holmes declared:

"The call by His Holiness Pope Pius to women to become active in political affairs holds in itself greater promise for the betterment of community life and family welfare than any other pronouncement of modern times.

"It is especially heartening to those of us who have been working for more women in public office, for women as jurors (barred in Massachusetts) and for more women as voters.

"A sound home is one of the ideals of civilization. Woman's active participation in political affairs will protect her home, for, as His Holiness states: 'Who better than she can understand what is needed for the dignity of woman, the integrity and honor of the young girl and the protection and education of the child?' "

Miss Holmes is also a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Bar Ass'n, president of the Massachusetts Ass'n of Women Lawyers and the only woman ever appointed to sit as a master by a judge of the Supreme Judicial Court.

New Electric Iron Works Without Cord

DETROIT, Oct. 25 (AP) — Eureka Vacuum Cleaner Co. today announced it was starting production of electric irons that require no dangling cords.

H. W. Burritt, Eureka president, explained that the new iron operates from a thermostat-controlled safety base from which it obtains instant heat after brief electric contact. The thermostat control, he said, automatically switches current on and off.

Jap War Declaration Got 'Sidetracked'

TOKYO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Fleet Admiral Osami Nagana—the man who gave the order starting the Pacific war—said today a formal declaration of war was to have preceded Japan's attack on Pearl Harbor by one-half hour, but "for some unknown reason" the vital message was delayed in Tokyo.

The attack, he said in an exclusive Associated Press interview, "achieved far greater success than I had expected," and was not a military blunder.

Nagana, Japan's wartime chief of navy staff, accepted "full responsibility" for making the decision to attack, after a bitter internal controversy in which some admirals asserted the plan was "too dangerous," he added.

The attacking fleet sailed before receipt of Sec. Hull's Nov. 26 peace message—Nagana termed it "the Hull ultimatum"—but had orders to rendezvous at "a waiting point between 900 and 1000 miles northwest of Hawaii," and could not advance without further orders, the admiral said.

"Admiral Yamamoto had guaranteed to me in a Dec. 2 conference that the fleet could be recalled if Washington negotiations were successful."

But by the time the fleet reached the waiting point, the situation was considered hopeless and Nagana's decisive order to attack was so timed the fleet actually "spent very little time" there before proceding toward Pearl Harbor, the admiral related.

World Is Small After All

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, JUNIOR
Special to the Boston Evening American

TOKYO, Oct. 25—We were completing the last leg of our long flight from New York to Tokyo. I turned to Barry Faris, editor-in-chief of International News Service, and said wearily: "I think if anybody ever remarks on the smallness of the world, I'll be tempted to pop the guy in the eye."

Barry grinned.

Flight time consumed totalled 52 hours—12 hours from New York to San Francisco, 12 more from the Golden Gate to Honolulu, still another 12 from Hawaii to Kwajalein, eight more from Kwajalein to Guam and eight from Guam to Tokyo.

Most of the time in these big four-motor Douglas C-54s of the Air Transport Command you just sit, or lie on the floor. Your posture depends on whether you want to talk, eat, read or sleep.

Sitting across from me was an infantry colonel. Winging over Iwo Jima, he compared the fighting our boys encountered there with the opposition his own regiment ran up against in Italy.

I told him I had been in Italy and he asked me if I had known a correspondent whom I'll call Jack Jones. I had crossed the Atlantic on the way to Africa with Jack and I told the colonel. Jack had been killed the first day of the final drive on Rome.

"Yes, I know," said the colonel. "He was killed with my regiment up ahead of Minturno."

I told the colonel of our having perched on top of a little hill near Minturno and visiting a castle used as an artillery observation post while the town itself was under German fire.

The colonel looked at me.

"Weren't you up there with Larry Newman and Sid Feder?" he asked.

I was. We had gone up to Minturno for lunch.

"Didn't a room in the castle have some girls painted on the walls?" the colonel asked.

The castle room was as he described it.

"I was the commanding officer of the regiment and we lunched together that day," the colonel said.

"It's a small world after all, isn't it?"

The funny part is I had no inclination to pop him in the eye at all!

BRITISH ADMIRAL DIES

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Sir Frederick Laurence Field, 73, admiral of the fleet and first sea lord of the Admiralty from 1930 to 1933, died yesterday.

Jap Diplomats Lose All Power

TOKYO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur today ordered Japan to sever relations with all foreign governments and turn over its diplomatic properties and papers throughout the world to the Allied powers.

The order, issued "by direction of the Allied powers," told the Japanese government to "recall immediately" its diplomatic and consular representatives in neutral countries.

Purpose of the order, other than the apparent one of revealing to the Allies all Japan's diplomatic and consular secrets, was not disclosed. It came to MacArthur from the joint chiefs of staff at Washington.

The directive followed close upon criticisms from Moscow to the effect that, with demobilization of Japan's armed forces, the occupation policies in the conquered nation should be directed by a four-power control commission instead of by MacArthur.

Taxpayers Balk At Hurricane Pay

Norman MacDonald of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Ass'ns asserted today that if the Massachusetts Legislature voted to pay "hurricane damage" repair claims his organization would carry litigation to the Supreme Court to bar payment.

Before the legislative commission to study hurricane damage and other claims against the Commonwealth, MacDonald said such repair claims were declared illegal by the Superior Court several years ago.

He added that seven claims, totaling $109,035, have been received for repairs at state teachers' colleges in Fitchburg, Lowell, Salem, Westfield and Worcester, at armories in Holyoke and Lowell and at the Tewksbury infirmary.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Push Probe in 'Pow-wow' Witchcraft Death of Girl

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 25 (INS)—Lancaster County authorities today continued a probe in the witchcraft death of 10-year-old Jane Louise Fackler, whose life wasted away despite "pow-wow" incantations by her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fackler were charged with involuntary manslaughter when arraigned before a local alderman.

Pennsylvania Dutch neighbors said that when the parents tried to cure the child of a long illness by "pow-wow" words they probably were doing only what they felt was right. The mother's explanation to an assistant district attorney sounded reasonable to them.

"They told me the baby had the waste," Mrs. Fackler told police, "so I thought I'd try for it, just like any other mother would do."

Mrs. Fackler told probers she learned the art of "Pow-Wow" 12 years ago, and decided to test its strength on little Jane despite a visit from a physician last February. Her husband insisted he neither knew the child was ill, not that "Pow-Wow" words were being used as a cure.

John Beyer, assistant district attorney, said he planned to take the eight surviving Fackler children to juvenile court, and ask they be placed in foster homes.

Mrs. Fackler was released to care for the eight

RAYVE CRÈME SHAMPOO FOR lovelier hair INSTANTLY!

Rayve

You Can't Fool The Experts!

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I am still in service, but expect my discharge within the next month. Would I be entitled, while still in service, to purchase surplus property which I will need in order to return to my pre-service occupation? L. S., Ft. Devens.

A—Must receive discharge under honorable conditions before you can make application for purchase of surplus property. After your release, contact district office of Small War Plants Commission nearest your home. The Boston office is at 17 Court st.

Q—In 1943 I was honorably discharged from the Army on a C. D. D. after serving 4 months. When I volunteered I was suffering from an illness which required injections. Since discharge, however, I filed application for pension, due to illness, but was rejected both in Boston and Washington. Having never been examined by Veterans Administration doctors, I feel my case was not given due consideration. What steps can I take now? J. J. C., Cambridge.

A—Your next move would be a request to have case reopened and further evidence presented to a Veterans' Administration. Suggest you contact the service officer of any of the three veteran organizations who will be willing to assist you — American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars or Disabled American Veterans. These organizations have representatives at Veterans Bureau, Federal Building. Not necesary for medical examination by a VA doctor.

Q—I was given an undesirable discharge but under honorable conditions. Am I entitled to World War II honorable discharge button? If eligible, please tell me where I can obtain one. L. C., Back Bay.

A—As you state discharge is under honorable conditions, you are eligible to apply for the button. If service was in the Navy, button may be obtained at Fargo Barracks, Summer st., South Boston. Army issues pin at First Service Command, Hq. Detachment, Hotel Buckminister, Kenmore sq.

Q—My husband has been in service three years and now is overseas, but has only 68 points. Will he be returning soon, and also is he eligible for discharge? D. B., Cambridge.

A—These men are being returned as fast as possible, highest point men receiving first consideration. By the time he has been returned he will be eligible for discharge.

Q—I have a very close friend in the Navy. While here in Boston his address was at Fargo Barracks. Some time ago he was shipped out and I don't know where he is. Is there any way of getting his present address? M. B., Roxbury.

A—It would be impossible for you to obtain his present address through the Navy Dept. Such information is available only to servicemen's immediate family. Suggest that you write serviceman care the Fargo Barracks and letter might reach him. Mark letter "Please Forward."

Q—My son joined the Army last June and was only 14 years of age at the time. I have finally located him at a camp in Missouri. Have forwarded his birth certificate to the chaplain. Will he be discharged at once? Will he have all rights under GI Bill also? Will he be punished for giving wrong age? J. K., So. Boston.

A—He will be discharged immediately and sent home. You won't have to worry about any punishment being meted out. Generally the Army gives an honorable discharge in such cases. In that event he will be entitled to GI Bill benefits, having served 90 days or more.

Q—Our brother has been in the invasions of Africa, Sicily and Italy, and still is overseas with a total of 91 points to his credit. Do you think he will be home for Thanksgiving? E. J. P., Needham.

A—He should be already alerted for return. As to being home for Thanksgiving, I would not say definitely, but Christmas looks like a safe bet.

Q—Please inform me when the 369th Eng. Bn. will be home. We had news that my brother should be home this past weekend, but have failed to hear anything further. J. B., Somerville.

A—Have no information on above unit. Suggest you watch daily column 'Boys Come Home" which appears on another page of this newspaper. That announces arrivals and expected arrivals of units.

3 Wakefield Youths Jailed

Three Wakefield youths were found guilty by a Middlesex Superior Court jury of larceny today and given sentences after Asst. Dist. Atty. Sprague had countered a leniency plea with the statement:

"Veterans get preference in Civil Service, but they don't deserve it in crime."

Warren Armstrong, 21, Crescent st., an honorably discharged veteran, and Lee F. Riley, 21, Salem st., son of a Wakefield police officer, were sentenced to two years in jail by Judge Pinanski.

Paul Cacciola, 19, Lowell st., now on probation, was sent back to Concord and given a concurrent indeterminate sentence as well.

The three drove from a Wilmington night spot with William Hovey of Wilmington after taking his wallet containing $19 and beating him over the head.

Official Says British Tories Control UNRRA in Europe

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—John Beecher, official of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration in Stuttgart, Germany, says he found "UNRRA was largely controlled by British Tories of the most unregenerate stamp."

Beecher said yesterday that he was relieved of duty Aug. 30 by a British superior because of what he described as his refusal to let UNRRA operations be used "as an instrument of British foreign policy."

Six members of his displaced persons team also were dismissed, he said, all "without hearing charges or investigation."

UNRRA headquarters in Washington denied categorically that the British "or any one member government" dominated UNRRA operations in Europe.

Roy F. Hendrickson, UNRRA deputy director general, said Beecher and four associates had been dismissed on a charge of insubordination, but reinstated pending an investigation.

Beecher said the British officials within UNRRA were "the old school tie type, with large numbers drawn from the British army and colonial service pension lists." He said they went by their former military titles "and in some cases even tried to make us salute them."

Morse Salisbury, UNRRA public relations director, said European operations were directed from London by British Lt. Gen. Sir Humphrey Gale, but added:

"To say that European operations are dominated by the British because the head of the London office is British would be as absurd as saying that the whole UNRRA operation is dominated by the Americans because Director General Herbert H Lehman is an American."

This Is My Story ★ ★ By Gen. Jonathan Wainwright

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.

THIS IS MY STORY

(This is the 17th article of a series by Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright on the fall of the Philippines. Today he tells about the evacuation of some American nurses, officers and civilians from Corregidor.)

In the midst of tremendous shelling on April 29—stepped up in honor of Hirohito's birthday, the Jap radio said—I got word that the Navy rescue planes had reached Lake Lanao and would fly up to Corregidor that night.

I got in touch immediately with Capt. Kenneth Hoeffel, U. S. N., senior naval officer on Corregidor, and with him, chose the water between Corregidor and Fort Hughes, on Cabalo island, as the most sheltered landing place for the rescue planes.

At dark, Capt. Hoeffel directed the minesweepers Quail and Tangier to sweep the mines from the water strip, and sank and lighted two buoys to guide the approaching aircraft.

Just after dark they came, like the messengers from another world, which they were. They came in low to make difficult targets of themselves.

Working as fast as possible, we put 50 men and women in two planes; 30 nurses—I left the choosing of them up to Col. Cooper, my surgeon—and 20 others. Among those 20 were a Mrs. Bewley and her daughter, Virginia. Mrs. Bewley's husband was a Manila doctor who chose to remain behind with his patients rather than desert them when the Japs moved into the city.

There was also a Naval officer's wife who somehow had remained behind despite the ruling of the previous spring that all dependents of military personnel must leave. And Mrs. Seals, wife of Brig. Gen. Carl Seals. Mrs. Seals was suffering too badly from arthritis to be moved out the previous May.

Especially asked for by MacArthur was Col. Stewart Wood, a well-trained staff officer who was my assistant chief of staff for intelligence and who had a fine knowledge of Japanese. MacArthur also asked for, and got, several cryptographers. With them I sent half a dozen officers ranging from brigadier generals to lieutenant colonels, who were in no physical condition to take captivity.

I helped many of them into the little boats that carried them from the Corregidor dock to the nearby planes, and bade each of them good-by. It was hard, for we all knew that if the planes got away it would be the last time we would ever see them.

One of the last to get in was Lt. Juanita Redmond, a beautiful girl from South Carolina. She did a nice thing. She put her arms around me and kissed me.

"Oh, thank you, General," she cried.

We stood there and watched the two seaplanes roar and take off, and prayed that they would not be hit. They were not. They sailed right off the water beautifully, pulled out over to the side of Cavite beyond the range of its antiaircraft guns, and were enveloped in the night.

Then we turned and walked back to our jobs.

I went to my quarters in the tunnel and after reporting to MacArthur that the planes had gone away I tried to get some sleep.

My day, during most of the Battle for Corregidor, started about 6 a. m., when I would get up, dress, walk out either the east or west end of the tunnel for some air and a view of the damage wrought since I slept, then come back and eat in the hospital's convalescent mess.

After breakfast I would go to my headquarters, also in the tunnel, attend to the paper work at hand, review the night's reports and the expectations—increasingly dim—for the coming day. In the middle of the morning I would join Maj. Gen. George F. Moore and sometimes tour the island either on foot or in his light car, inspecting our ever-dissolving batteries.

I would get back to the tunnel for lunch, usually a bowl of soup, and then there would be more paper work, more information to receive and dispatch, followed occasionally by another inspection tour through the afternoon. In the evenings I had my reports to make to MacArthur and the War Department.

Before turning in at night I would walk outside the tunnel, sit down and have a smoke if the shelling was not too bad, and talk with anybody who came along. And then to bed again, with the usual instructions to call me if the enemy performed anything out of the ordinary the ordinary being the systematic destruction of our last stronghold.

A big concern during the last two weeks on Corregidor was our water and power supply. Corregidor's reservoir was filled from a deep artesian well, operated by a pump run by an electric engine which in turn derived its power from fuel oil.

Gen. Moore estimated that we would run out of power on Corregidor by May 29, 1942. We had already lost one of our best men, a colonel of the engineer corps who was blown to bits while supervising shell repairs to the water system.

Our main power plant in a valley in the middle of Corregidor was bombed badly shortly after I arrived on The Rock. We built three emergency wooden water tanks on the side of Malinta Hill to take care of the hospital and the tunnel whenever the main water system suffered a hit on a central conduit. To add to our discomfort, one of these tanks was destroyed by a shell.

The Jap shelling raised havoc with our communications, too. All troop units were connected with their [illegible] by telephone. Telephone wires leading to these guns and to batteries were as a rule subterranean cables. But they had not been sunk far enough in the ground and were constantly being rooted out and broken by the shells. And we did not have enough equipment to replace the broken strands.

A day after the two Navy planes made their getaway with the 30 nurses and 20 assorted officers and civilians I learned to my sorrow that one of the planes had struck an obstacle of some sort while landing on Mindanao's Lake Lanao. The crew worked feverishly but could not make proper repairs. Twenty-five persons who thought they were well on their way to liberty were marooned when the plane had to be abandoned.

The second plane, unable to take on more passengers, flew on to Australia after what must have been a tragic farewell. Passengers and crew of the disabled plane were captured in the fall of Mindanao, among them Gen. and Mrs. Seals, Col. Wood and a number of nurses.

Through the beginning and middle periods of April we were able to evacuate about a dozen men by means of tiny Philippine Army liaison planes, especially one flown by an intrepid Air Force major named Bill Bradford. The little two-seater planes used the island-hopping method of getting to Corregidor and sometimes brought in lightweight medical supplies. Landing on our short, crater-pocked Corregidor airstrip, especially at night when the runway could only be lighted by one of our searchlights dipping its beam suddenly along the strip, was as dangerous as the overwater flying and the shelling.

Several important air officers escaped by this risky means, as did three war correspondent I had learned to know well. These were Clark Lee, Dean Schedler and Frank Hewlett. I shook hands and wished each of them luck before he took off. The chances of their getting through to safety were no better than 50-50.

But farewells to such friends as these could never be wordy. Lee and I shook hands, in a kind of "See you soon" manner.

Schedler said, "You should be leaving, not me," but I laughed and paraphrased Hewlett's old Bataan rhyme

"Not me," I told Schedler. "I've been one of the 'Battling Bastards of Bataan' and I guess I'll play the same role on The Rock."

Hewlett, who had been an especially close friend, said, "Skinny, I hate to go off and leave you here, but I'll see to it at home that they know what you're doing." He did.

By the last week of April these little mercy planes stopped coming. The Japs had taken too many of the stepping stones they needed to reach us.

GEN. JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT

No. 1 General

Back at his home in Story st., Cambridge, after surviving the Bataan Death March and three and a half years in a Jap prison camp, Sgt. Daniel J. Mahoney today listed Gen. Wainwright as his "No. 1 General."

"In April, 1942," the sergeant said, "Gen. Wainwright was assembled with other men on Bataan for the Death March in which he marched for five days without food."

"WHEN I became President it was perfectly apparent that the key by which the way could be opened to national progress was constructive economy. Only by the use of that policy could the high rates of taxation, which were retarding our development and prosperity, be diminished, and the enormous burden of our public debt be reduced."

A WOMEN'S CRUSADE

By E. F. TOMPKINS

POPE PIUS spoke not only to the women of Italy, but to the women of all Christendom, in his profoundly impressive address on social and civic duties.

Italian women have just been enfranchised and will soon vote for the first time. For this reason, the Vatican speech was composed directly for them; but the Pontiff's vision is world-wide and his words were not circumscribed.

His counsels were in large part a warning against movements and influence that imperil the ancient moralities and that seek to corrode and to abolish the CHURCH, the FAMILY and the HOME.

Accordingly, Pope Pius called upon Catholic women everywhere to crusade against the evil tendencies of the times and to preserve these fundamental institutions of our society.

Women, he said, must not shirk the political responsibilities that have come to them; they should especially use these responsibilities to further the interests and the requirements of the home.

"It is the duty of every right-thinking woman," the Pope said, "to take part in public life and not leave it to others who would destroy social and domestic life."

Pope Pius condemned utterly the "totalitarian systems" that violate the sanctity of the family and that propose "socialized" services and methods for woman "which relieve her of her maternal obligation toward her own children."

HE WAS EQUALLY emphatic with regard to the kind of "capitalism" that diverts women from the household to the workshop.

In large part, he conceded, the woman who is "kept out of the home" is constrained by "the necessities of life, by the constant anxiety about daily bread," and consequently—

"It would be useless then to preach to her to return to the home while conditions prevail which constrain her to remain away from it.

"And this," the Pope continued, "brings us to the first aspect of your mission in the social and political life which opens up before you.

"Your entry to public life came about suddenly as a result of social upheavals which we see around us.

"It does not matter.

"You are called upon to take part."

The task is not a light one which the Holy Father calls upon women to assume.

"The fate of the family," he asserted, "the fate of human relations, are at stake.

"Every woman, without exception, has —and understands it clearly—the duty— the absolute duty of conscience . . . to enter into action, according to the possibilities of each, TO CONTAIN THE CURRENTS MENACING THE HEARTH, to combat doctrines undermining its foundations, and to prepare TO ORGANIZE FOR ACCOMPLISHMENT OF ITS RESTORATION."

THE POPE'S speech was not "Feminism" in any of the meanings of that word.

It was a summons to womanhood to rescue civilization and faith in God by applying in the fields of sociology and politics those attributes, belonging only to women, of "perspicacity," of "sensitiveness and fine feeling," which are "of immense help when it is a question of throwing light on the needs, aspirations and dangers that touch domestic, public welfare or religious spheres."

Your letter does not move me,
Although the words are strong,
You say you will not love me,
But, ah, the letter's long.
Twelve pages neat and double!
A little essay! Why,
One never takes such trouble
To write a mere good-bye.

JAMES MORELAND of Chicago recently became a grandfather twice in the same day. His two daughters had baby boys within a few hours of each other. Sounds unusual but no doubt Brooklyn or California will top it immediately . . . Of course, you wouldn't sell your dog for a million dollars but have you ever had any offers of a fancy price for him? An American recently offered Mrs. G. M. Jewell of Bristol, England, the sum of $10,000 for her Great Dane, Hyperion. Mrs. Jewell turned the offer down.

If she doesn't believe me she can ask her folks. She is Scorpio born. When not in love Scorpio females are moody and miserable. When in love they are inclined to argue and quarrel. So even then they are unhappy but at least not bored. So say the stargazers.

THAT BOMB: "Upon the declaration of war the Prime Minister at 10 Downing St. could press a button releasing 6000 atomic rockets on the enemy that would destroy every major town in the country he was attacking." Such is the statement made by British Air Vice-Marshal D. By bringing about a little improvement in the atomic bomb he could destroy a great country like the United States in five seconds."*

HUSBAND TRAINING: If a woman expects to accomplish anything in the way of molding a man's character she must get him when he is between the ages of 17 and 25. A bachelor over 25 is a tough proposition. Even experienced widows have a hard time breaking such men into matrimonial harness. Such is the opinion of many persons of experience. Our Mules & Men Department is inclined to agree with this view. So, young woman, if you want a man who can be tamed and molded into a high-grade husband you better get yourself one under 25.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—Now that the invasion of the New York waterfront has been repelled for the moment, let us consider the questions which were the basis of the so-called rank and file rebellion.

Is Joseph Ryan a dictator in the International Longshoremen's Association of the A. F. of L. and does racketeering exist?

Westbrook Pegler

Of course. Most unions of both the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. are ruled by dictators or royal groups with truly regal privileges and powers.

For years some of the sub-bosses of Ryan's union have run rackets under a system, typical of the American union movement, which gives them the position and powers of Tammany district bosses. In Ryan's union, some local dictators dealt in liquor and the numbers racket and applicants for some of the jobs had to pay an initiation fee of $500.

Challenged with such charges during the war, Ryan tacitly admitted them but explained that that was no time to undertake reforms. He was busy loading ships and maintaining his efficiency which was superior to that of Harry Bridges' Pacific Coast union of CIO Longshoremen.

He claimed that Bridges' union was constantly trying to penetrate his Atlantic ports, and that Bridges was practically commuting between California and the Atlantic. He suspected that the National Maritime Commission and the War Shipping Administration, through the influence of social and political pets of the Roosevelts, were favoring radicals and Communistic-minded groups of the maritime and warterfront unions.

Ryan fiercely hated Franklin D. Roosevelt for this and would have opposed him in the last campaign except that he realized that the Roosevelt propaganda had convinced his membership that he was their friend.

MEANWHILE, through friends in the War Shipping Administration, Ryan kept watch over his enemies and he made a prediction two years ago that, with the help of Joseph Curran, of the National Maritime Union, Bridges' union would make its move as soon as Soviet Russia was out of danger from Hitler.

I was present, not in the meeting but thereabouts, when Ryan was elected president of his union for life and was entertained by the blank astonishment of some of his subordinate international officers when he introduced me as a friend not only of Joe Ryan but of labor.

He knew I was anti-racket but I was anti-Communist, too, and it was not merely to assure himself a life job at $20,000 that he had elected himself president for life.

He also wanted to relieve himself of the need to fight insurgents within his own union so that he could use both hands fighting the Communists.

★ ★ ★

FEW AMERICANS realize, as they should, that racketeering in unions is legal. Suppose that a regional boss of Ryan's union compels the stevedores to buy liquor at a store run by his wife or brother under penalty of expulsion, and charges them more than a fair price. That is a racket but the law allows it.

Trading elsewhere could be called "un-union-like conduct," punishable by expulsion.

If they fell in arrears on the first of the month, out they went.

In some CIO unions the workers may be compelled to give a tithe or more for Russian relief or the Political Action Committee.

So life tenure for Ryan and racketeering, as such, were not the real objections of the Communistic-minded groups to Ryan's control of the loading on the New York waterfront. He was offensive because he was defending the Atlantic ports against radicalism and Communistic trends.

REFORMS ARE overdue but Ryan's union is typical, not exceptional. And in the matter of "democracy" it is much more reasonable than Curran's N. M. U.

A candidate for office in the N. M. U. must have been a member for one year and a sailor for two years and these provisions neatly exclude practically the entire body of young Americans on the war shipping fleet from opposing radicals and Communists in the elections.

In fact, most of them are members only by compulsion of the Roosevelts' War Shipping Administration.

Nevertheless, without a right to vote on the question, many of them had to quit work under union orders to assist in Bridges' invasion. For refusing to obey they could have been reported to their draft boards by the union for induction after faithful war service in the Merchant Marine.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25—Esther Williams is just a plain sensation in Mexico. They've gone nertz (or the Mexican equivalent) about our beautiful swimming champ who is making "Fiesta"—and I mean a movie, there.

Esther Williams

She has pitched in on everything they've asked of her, arranging swimming meets, appearing at charity affairs and, in short, making herself a wonderful "good neighbor." The only blue note is Sgt. Ben Gage, who is so lonesome parked back here in Hollywood, he may fly down and marry the gal.

But even the best things must come to an end and when Esther returns she'll get the script of Joe Pasternak's "Gentleman's Gentleman."

I'm laughing already at the idea of Jimmy Durante as a valet to Lauritz Melchior, and Jose Iturbi is also in the set-up of this yarn with a "Met" background. Probably won't go until after the first of the year, for the Pasternaks are taking a vacation after the arrival of their second baby.

GENIAL GRAD SEARS is out here to see that our Mary Pickford is done right by. He feels she has an excellent script in "Lona Henry" and that she should have her chance to produce it. Mary's had a tough time getting started. One obstacle after another has been in her road and she's taken a lot of ribbing. I feel as Grad does, that this industry owes Mary the chance to produce a picture if she wants to produce it.

DARRYL ZANUCK has a few less gray hairs over "Anna and the King of Siam," now that Rex Harrison, who is to play the king, has arrived here from England. Today he was hopeful that Katharine Hepburn would play Anna, but no one at 20th wanted to say a word until the contract is signed, sealed and delivered. Irene Dunne was once set until her husband took sick; Jean Arthur was very favorably inclined until a stage offer took her away—and now that Spencer Tracy's play, "The Rugged Path," is soon to leave Boston (Katharine went along to coach Spencer), chances are she'll accept it.

GOODNESS KNOWS I felt old when Shirley Temple marched up the aisle and married John Agar, but now that she has written the story of her life I feel like Mrs. Methuselah herself. Think of Shirley being old enough to write the story of her life. Yes, here it is on my desk called "My Young Life."

DO YOU REMEMBER John Eldredge, the actor who was in so many Warner pictures a few years ago? Well, he's always been considered one of the town's most confirmed bachlors and now I am told he's in love with a girl named Gay Fairchild, who is seeking a picture career here, and that they have matrimonial plans. George Eldredge, 2d, John's nephew, who has just been released after four years of service, has been optioned by Vanguard Studio on an acting contract. If he has any of his uncle's acting charm, he should be all right.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Veronica Lake is expecting her baby any minute; Mrs. Robert Nathan, wife of the author-poet, is ill with pneumonia; Horace Schmidlapp, who so nearly married Carole Landis—or was it ever close to a marriage?—was in town for a few days, but Carole wasn't interested; Gary Cooper is talking with Stu Heisler about making a movie in Europe, and it looks as if he'll get his way; Gregory Peck's son, Jonathan, won't have to worry about the future. His dad has already started a $200,000 annuity for him; Red Skelton and his bride are on their way back home by car. Red feels so much better. And he's itching to return to work; Lt. Willima V. O'Connor, Judge Jefty O'Connor's nephew and the husband of Adele Dillingham of Harper's Bazaar, has been returned from the Navy and will resume his law practice here.

MABEL TODD, now off for Las Vegas to divorce Maury Amsterdam, spent her last evening in town at the Club Donroy with Jimmy Tarantino; a voice from the past is the news that Minna Durfee Arbuckle, Fatty's first wife, gave her 89-year-old mother a birthday party at Charley Foy's Cafe; Ian Hunter—remember him—the Hollywood British actor who served with the English Navy throughout the war, is due back in Hollywood; Xavier Cugat has been offered $25,000 to do the playroom of Mrs. Hillman Smith's San Francisco home with a mural of his caricatures; Tay Garnett has turned author and is writing a book on his 25 years directing Hollywood stars. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: Intimates say that Col. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., will be a candidate for Governor of Massachusetts next year . . . The handsome 40-year-old grandson of Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, who resigned his seat in the Senate to accept a commission in the Army, has no inclination to oppose Sen. David I. Walsh in the next Senatorial fight . . . His real objective is a place on the Republican ticket in 1948, either as his party's nominee for President, or and he has a real chance to attain this objective—as the G. O. P.'s candidate for Vice-President, (and a possible shot four years later for the Presidency).

★ ★ ★

IN THE YOUNGER LODGE'S ambition to be the standard-bearer or the vice-presidential candidate on his party's national ticket, the power of the position held by a Governor in his state's delegation to the national convention is not being overlooked . . . As Gov. Lodge of Massachusetts, young Cabot would be the boss of his state's delegation, and would outrank both Sen. Saltonstall and the minority leader of the House, Cong. Joe Martin. It is traditional in the administration of Republican party affairs that the Governor of a state is the panjandrum of the state's delegation.

★ ★ ★

THE POWER of such a position in the G. O. P. convention of 1948 would be considerable . . . Although this state's delegation undoubtedly would swing for a Massachusetts man in a battle for one of the major places on the ticket, "Governor" Lodge would be reinforced in whatever direction his ambition led him . . . As leader of the Bay State's delegation, he would be acquainted with all the deliberations of any caucus of leaders in the convention . . . Being on hand in these deliberations would enable young Lodge to throw his personal charm and the weight of his actual presence toward his own candidacy, if the chance arose.

WE ARE TOLD that the Lodge candidacy for governor will not be thwarted or forestalled by any strictly local party emotion in favor of Lt. Gov. Robert Bradford, who is seen as a sure seeker of the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination next year . . . The talented Mr. Bradford is slated to have the support of numerous party wheel-horses, and it has been accepted by many G. O. P. leaders that he would fight it out with Governor Tobin in the latter's probable attempt to be re-elected in 1946.

THE "GREET THE FLEET" show staged by entertainers from shows and night clubs playing in Boston on the foredeck of the USS North Carolina was a masterly job, and arranged on short notice . . . Mrs. Betty Kern of Beacon st. and Sumner Hersey, press agent of the USO in this area, had the bright idea of scooping the Navy in the Navy Day celebration . . . They rigged up a fine show in the few days intervening between Friday, when the notion dawned, and Tuesday, when 3500 sailors applauded until their hands ached while a great show unfolded on the battleship's deck . . . Lt. Com. J. John Fox, USNR, the former Boston attorney, has done a remarkable job in the Navy Intelligence in Hawaii and the Philippines, according to reports brought home by officers of the fleet . . . The young officer will return sometime in November, his fellow officers say.

BERMUDA, Oct. 25—QUESTION: Why, Mr. Dixon! – What in the world are you doing in Bermuda?

ANSWER: Oh, I am just getting back to abnormal.

All through the war we were forever bleating about getting back to normal—but what we meant by normal was something else again. With most of us it did not mean getting back to humdrum peace and quiet; it meant being able to do all the hell-raising things that the war had made impossible, or anyway too difficult.

So now, everybody with any dough wants to do something, which—judging by the kind of folks I see at the $100 mutuel windows — means everybody. And the thing they seem to yearn for most is travel.

You're certainly being profound today, Dixon. It wouldn't take much for you to stuff a shirt.

VACATION BUSINESS, in case you haven't heard about it, is opening up. The British have heard about it, anyway. And they're going after it with all the dogged determination which has long insured that Britons never, never will be slyves.

(NOTE: Slyve (Eng. Colloquial)—A serf or bond servant.)

We had better get busy or we will find Good Old Albion away out ahead on a fast track.

(MEMO to our tourist and travel concerns: It might be a good idea to suggest that your help recover some notions of courtesy. The British tourist boys are becoming very polite—even say "sir," although they are pretty sure you haven't been knighted.)

(MEMO NO. 2: American leaving Bermuda got off this crack at the dock: It's going to be a shock on reaching my native land. There politeness ceases!)

★ ★ ★

NOW LEAVE us get back to how I got to Bermuda. Since the war it has been blocked off as a tourist resort. But it's open again. The British Overseas Airways Corporation stage its first postwar commercial flight—and being a concern which does not believe in hiding its light under a bushel—took a group of newspapermen along.

I will not say what kind of newspapermen, because all of them are in better shape than me and I do not wish to have them coming around here taking umbrage. Those I recall seeing through the fog were Mr. Charles Egan, Mr. Merlin Mickel, Mr. Toland Shackford, and Miss Martha Kearney, who kept insisting that various distinguished Bermudians were trying to woo her, although this was not discernible to the naked eye.

We had breakfast in Washington—and late lunch in Bermuda! The big American-made Boeing in which we traveled – the British said it cost them more than a million dollars—left Baltimore at 11 a. m. and landed in this island paradise (see travel folders) five hours later.

★ ★ ★

NATURALLY, I had read all this stuff about modern rapid transit—across the Atlantic between sunup and sundown—but somehow I never really appreciated what it meant. But now I do—and soon we'll be doing it in the utmost luxury.

★ ★ ★

THIS BERMUDA is quite a place. Furthermore, they make you feel right at home. The nicest touch of all, I thought, was provided by the docking crew here.

In the most approved American manner they went on strike half an hour before we arrived!

We suspected at first that John L. Lewis or Sidney Hillman had sneaked in ahead of us—but it turned out the Bermudians had thought of it all by themselves. I tell you, we are all getting to be brothers under the skin.

★ ★ ★

THE STRIKE was settled the next morning, but only after Old Colonel Tim Morrissey, the benevolent Bermuda manager of BOAC, made generous concessions. Do you know what poor Old Colonel Tim had to do to get those grasping dockers and porters back to work? He had to raise their wages twopence an hour!

The money grubbers!

BERMUDIANS are a very independent people. They will tell you that, without any prompting. An American, who was leaving on the next plane, epitomized this at dinner. Said he:

"The people of Bermuda refused to take any Lend-Lease. They made us pay for everything!"

★ ★ ★

I HOPE he got away all right.

I JUST PASSED through the hotel lounge and Miss Kearney was informing a retired Indian colonel that she never accepted dinner invitations from strange men. I guess from what I saw later—that the colonel was no stranger.

Gin of pre-war quality

made with pre-war imported botanicals

1 Today Hiram Walker brings you gin made with the same imported herbs, roots and berries used in the making of Hiram Walker's pre-war gin.

2 And remember, between Repeal and Pearl Harbor Americans bought more Walker-made gin than any other kind.

In accordance with formula all herbs used in Walker's Gin are imported.

Juniper from Italy! Harvesters "spank" the prized juniper bush of the Apennines with sticks, to shake its ripe, unmatchable berries onto sheets laid carefully on the ground beneath. These—and ALL the herbs, roots and berries used in making Hiram Walker's Gin—come from a supply imported before the war. It's these imported botanicals, plus 100% American grain spirits, that give Hiram Walker's Gin its real, pre-war quality.

Here's a Real $64 Question

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25 (AP) —A Chinese puzzle with a scientific twist has been propounded by Dr. Samuel Levine, assistant professor of medicine at Harvard.

Why is heart disease rare among Chinese? "I wish I knew," said Dr. Levine, a heart specialist. "A Chinese with angina or thrombosis is almost unknown. Is it their diet, as I suspect? Then we should adopt it.

"Is it their racial heritage or their philosophical view of life, compared to our excitability?" Dr. Levine had no answer for his own question.

Tax Bill Goes To Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP) —The House declined to concur in Senate amendments to the first peacetime tax-cutting bill which eases wartime burdens by about $3,500,000,000.

The measure now goes to a joint Senate-House committee to iron out differences.

The complete erasure of 12,000,000 low income persons from the income tax rolls in 1946 is assured, however, as this is not in dispute between the two houses.

"Destination Beyond Victory"

Hearts sang

. . . sang in the foxholes, the cockpits; the gun turrets, the torpedo rooms, the far-off prison camps

. . . sang in the factories, stores, offices; in the mines and shipyards and roundhouses

. . . sang on the farms, in the villages and cities, in the homes of all the land.

That was Victory.

In these weeks that have followed, the shift from war to peace is on, full swing.

Hands that made and used the tools of war reach now for the tools of peace. Jobs, not Japs, are the nation's No. 1 concern.

Hearts must keep on singing

. . . singing at productive jobs for real wages, turning out the things a goods-hungry people want. Thereby we will attain the goal that was set before us, shortly before the war's end, by the Director of War Mobilization and Reconversion:

"We must look ahead to a destination beyond victory, to the kind of America in which the victorious members of the armed forces, together with all citizens, may enjoy the fruits of their bitterly-fought, hard-won victory."

As we drive ahead toward this destination beyond victory, what better time than now for a straight look at what makes jobs?

Jobs don't "just happen." Today, as always, they have to be planned for, tooled-up for . . . paid for . . . before they can be worked at.

For every existing job in major industry, there first had to be an investment of thousands of dollars in plant, equipment, raw materials. All the millionaires in America could not pay for more than a tiny fraction of this mighty total.

There is only one way, under freedom, by which the billions of dollars can be provided to make the millions of jobs. And that is through investment by the great mass of the people. America's miracle of mass production could never have been, without this twin miracle of mass investment.

In this vast machinery for mass investment, the New York Stock Exchange performs an essential function. It maintains, sound and efficient, an ever-present market at openly disclosed prices for the securities of American industry.

Without this Exchange, and the other organized financial markets of our country, millions would not have dared become security owners. For, added to the normal risk of loss that is ever present in any form of ownership for profit, there would then have been a prohibitive new risk—lack of a ready market. No one would buy what he could not be sure of selling.

This Exchange, the companies whose securities are listed on it, the investors who use its facilities—all share a high duty in this vital hour of our national life. That duty is to perform responsibly, so that mass investment may yield its utmost benefits in the mass production of goods, of jobs. Thus will we achieve our destination beyond victory.

Ask for information about securities. The facts can be found where you see this sign, "Member, New York Stock Exchange." Be informed . . . rely on facts, not hearsay . . . responsible ownership will make a vital contribution to America's progress.

Mary R. Baker Weds

AN EFFECTIVE color scheme of blue-green velvet with talisman roses and golden chrysanthemums has been designed for the costumes of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Mary Royce Baker and Frederick Sumner Carr, USNR, in St. Peter's Church, Weston, at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The pretty blonde bride, one of the first of the '44-'45 debutantes to become engaged, is the daughter of Mrs. Royce Baker of Weston and Roland Baker, Jr., of Boston. Mr. Carr is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Carr who bought the beautiful Gannett estate on Brush Hill rd., Milton. He has just completed naval ROTC training at Yale.

Mrs. Bernard de Bruyne

The bride's gown is white satin made with a long full train, a tulle veil attached to a satin half-hat trimmed with rose point lace and orange blossoms. She is carrying a satin muff bordered with rose point and appliqued with gardenias and stephanotis. The attendants are her sisters, Mrs. Roger Angell and Peggy Baker, and the groom's sister, Cynthia Carr. Their velvet gowns are made with off-shoulder necklines, full circular skirts, and their flowers are pinned to matching velvet muffs.

Mrs. Baker is wearing corn yellow with brown orchids, and Mrs. Carr beige lace with lavender orchids. The reception is at the Weston Country Club.

DAINTY MITTENS, sweaters and hand embroidered dresses on the baby table were the center of attraction for both Mrs. Harry Hayward and Mrs. Frederick P. Crocker (Mary Van Ness) at the annual Harvest Festival which opened yesterday at the Women's City Club. Mrs. Hayward has just received a cable announcing the birth of a nine-pound son to her daughter, Mrs. Bernard de Bruyne of London. Mrs. Crocker is collecting a wardrobe of tiny garments in anticipation of a newcomer in the nursery.

The table was presided over by Mrs. Urbain Robert, Mrs. Alexander Macomber and Mrs. Ralph Buck, who wore the hat of the day—a fluff of cerise ostrich over one eye and brightening a gray pin stripe suit.

Among those responsible for the masses of colorful fruit and flower arrangements throughout the clubhouse are Mrs. Louis Phaneuf, who for several years has been in charge of the annual spring and fall flower shows at the club, Mrs. Alexander Steinert, Mrs. Parker Whittemore, Mrs. Chester Cooke and Mrs. Ralph Dunbar.

★ ★ ★

IN KEEPING with the fruit and flower motif the first course of the harvest luncheon was a triangle of honeydew melon adorned with flowers made of green grapes, mint leaves and a touch of red grenadine. Taking time out from the festival to lunch upstairs, we glimpsed Mrs. Hugh Bancroft, Mrs. Paul Clark and Mrs. William Cox, who helped to man the cake table. Mrs. Richard Russell and Miss Louise Condit, Mrs. James Warren Sever with a group of friends, Mrs. E. Winslow Ware proudly introducing her two sons who have just returned from the war, Mrs. Chester Bowman, Mrs. David Edwards, tiny and vivacious in a tailored brown outfit, Mrs. Guy Currier, Mrs. Frederic Mattheis, and Penny Smith, who helped out as ticket taker.

Judge Swift Elected K. of C. Supreme Knight

Announcement of the election of Superior Court Judge John E. Swift of Boston and Milford as supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus at the 63d annual meeting of the Supreme Council at Plattsburg, N. Y., was hailed today by a host of his friends in Massachusetts.

Judge Swift

He succeeds Francis P. Matthews of Omaha, Neb.

His elevation to the highest official position in the gift of the Catholic organization climaxes more than 30 years of service in the order, which was recognized and rewarded by Pope Pius XII three years ago in the bestowal upon the then Deputy Supreme Knight, the title of Knight Commander of St. Gregory the Great.

Since the time he was elected grand knight of Valencia Council in his home town of Milford, he has served as district deputy, state secretary, state deputy and several terms as supreme deputy.

A graduate of Boston College and Boston University Law School, Judge Swift practiced for many years in Boston, being associated with Sen. David I. Walsh and the late Maj. Thomas Walsh. He was also prominent in educational affairs.

He was inducted to the superior court bench in May, 1933, following is appointment by Gov. Joseph B. Ely, and in his judicial position he has established an enviable record for just and impartial decisions.

Best Cake For Hero

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

WHEN FRIENDS and relatives clamor to have first chance at entertaining your husband or brother home from the wars, a progressive welcome-home dinner is often a happy solution for the problem of precedence. Servicemen in camp and overseas associate the luscious cake, fresh from the oven, with their dream of homecoming. Reserve for yourself the joy of serving the most luscious frosted cake you can concoct as a happy ending.

It's a good idea to use cake flour to make sure of a light and tender texture. Even if you haven't a big supply of sugar, you can give your cake a glamor topping. A mix-easy fudge nut cake, for instance is a lavish dessert. Just cut it in squares topped with stars of whipped cream. Make the cake itself using half corn syrup and half sugar; sweeten the whipped cream with corn syrup. An easy way to make the stars is to stamp the top of each square with a star-shaped cookie cutter and then fill in the design with whipped cream.

FUDGE NUT CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 tsp. soda
¾ tsp. salt
⅔ cup corn syrup or honey
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla
½ cup vegetable shortening
⅔ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, unbeaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 cup coarsely chopped nut meats

Sift flour once; measure into sifter with soda and salt. Combine syrup, milk and vanilla. Have shortening at room temperature; mix or stir just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients. Add brown sugar—force through sieve to remove lumps, if necessary. Add ½ of liquid and the eggs. Mix until all flour is dampened; then beat 1 minute. Add remaining liquid; blend. Then add chocolate and beat 2 minutes longer. Add nuts. (Mix cake by hand or with electric mixer at low speed. Count only actual beating time. Or count beating strokes. Allow about 150 full strokes per minute. Scrape bowl and spoon often.)

Turn batter into 13x9x2-inch pan which has been greased, lined on bottom with waxed paper, and greased again. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 35 minutes. When cool, cut in squares and decorate each square with whipped cream in star design. (Use 2 tbsps. corn syrup to each ½ cup of heavy cream, whipped.)

Note: Granulated sugar may be substituted for brown sugar, if desired.

FEATHERY CUPCAKES

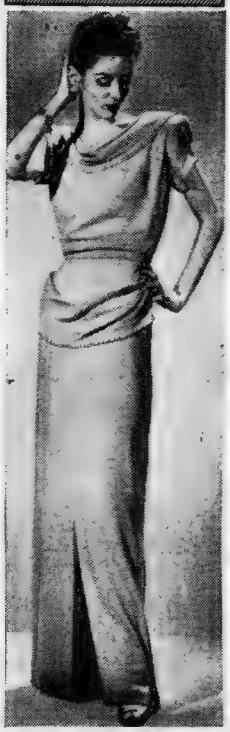
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ tsp. double-acting baking powder
⅝ tsp. salt
⅞ cup sugar
⅓ cup vegetable shortening
½ cup milk
1 egg and 1 egg yolk, unbeaten
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift flour once; measure into sifter with baking powder, salt and sugar. Have shortening at room temperature; mix or stir just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients. Add half of milk, the eggs and vanilla. Mix until all flour is dampened; then beat 1 minute. Add remaining milk, blend and beat 2 minutes longer. (Mix by hand or with electric mixer at low speed. Count only actual beating time. Or count beating strokes. Allow about 150 full strokes per minute. Scrape bowl and spoon or beater often.)

Turn batter into 10 greased 4¼-inch tart pans. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 20 minutes. When cool, turn cupcakes upside down. Spread tops lightly with jelly and sprinkle with chopped nut meats, if desired.

Corn syrup substitution: Use ½ cup light corn syrup and ⅓ cup sugar in above recipes. Combine syrup with milk.

Fashion



IN THE GRECIAN manner is this column-slim dinner gown designed on sculptured lines . . . its soft cowl and low-posed peplum weighted with silver bugle beads. The soft-draping accents the silhouette slimness with rounded femininity that's so smart this season. And, by the same token . . . the deep slash dramatizes the skirt. Eastman koda crepe fashions this good-looking and smart but not too extreme dinner dress—R. M.

Glamor for Eyes All in One Package

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

IT WAS NOT for naught that little Red Riding Hood told the wolf he had great big eyes . . . for even a child can sense the extraordinary. But the parallel we make is this. If you have cup-and-saucer eyes . . . if they are large and luminous . . . if they are framed by firm, unwrinkled tissues . . . the guy who counts will also think you've got orbs "the better to see" him with.

The "eyes" have it now as always . . . and if you have eyes that are like moonlight on marble . . . like diamonds in the sky . . . as bright as the rising dawn and as fiery as the setting sun . . . you've got really all that matters . . . you've got a beauty asset that is priceless.

But they are not. The brow is clean . . . the hair is sleek . . . the hats are fantastically delightful and the eyes are clean out in the open. Do you think a pair of slits which counts for eyes . . . or their environs that are as shriveled as a prune spell a picture of facial charm? Maybe, we're wrong . . . but in our humble understanding of beauty . . . eyes are a mighty important chapter . . . a build-up for that sartorial get-up . . . or a let-down if they fail.

Which brings us to a knockout beauty package . . . an all-in-one attraction that holds within its precious confines eye cream to keep those surrounding tissues firm yet soft and unlined . . . cream mascara and a real brush which is a prize package by itself . . . since the cream mascara is waterproof, smudge-proof and everlasting . . . and eyeshadow for that added touch of glamor, sophistication and drama.

EVERYTHING FOR EYE GLAMOR

In this little beauty box there is everything to "meet the eyes." You may not like heavy mascara for day time wear . . . and we wouldn't blame you. But there is more of that overtheatricalism attached to the use of this ebony cream . . . for it smooths on the eyes like a lipstick over your mouth. The alluring eye shadow is being revived this season with the strong return to the crowded social calendar.

And, the eye cream is a beauty bargain all by itself. Any girl who cares . . . and they must be legion . . . wouldn't dream of neglecting that precious area of the eye socket . . . pampering it with the creamy goodness of a cream that dispels the spider's web look.

For the name of this "the eyes have it" package, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IF YOU'D like to be the dream that the Big Moment would like to buy . . . or if you'd like to possess the face that goes with this off-the-face hour glass black felt hat trimmed with a satin bow tied through a gold loop in back and look as charming as Warner Filmstress Martha Vickers . . . start with the "better to see you with" eyes and cultivate them into intriguing largeness and drama with the beauty props that make for eye captivation.

Nurse Seeks Discharge

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My daughter is an Army nurse whose husband is also in the armed forces. He has sufficient points and will probably come home. She would like to get out at the same time. Is this possible? When will the Army nurses be discharged?

A READER.

Members of the Army Nurse Corps wishing to be discharged should address their requests to the Adjutant General, War Department. The request should state length of service, length of service overseas (in months), number of combat stars, number of children under 14, efficiency index, age, marital status, whether her husband has served in the armed forces since September, 1940, and if he is now separated from the service.

If the nurse wishes discharge because of her husband's release from duty, she must include certified copies of her husband's separation papers and her marriage certificate.

Anniversary Mass

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A friend of mine has asked me to write you some questions concerning her 25th wedding anniversary next month. In the evening she and her husband are having an informal reception in a club for about 100 guests. Early in the morning of that day they will go to communion, and are to have a mass for the anniversary occasion. They would like to have a couple as attendants, a bridesmaid and a best man.

What she would like to know is the proper type of dress for her and her attendant to wear . . . street dress, a small hat, a corsage? Or would it be proper for them to wear some kind of fancy headdress? And would it be proper for them to wear topcoats just over their shoulders, and, when going up to the altar rail, leave the coats in the seats?

M. R.

As the appropriate attire I suggest street-length dresses, small hats (not a fancy headdress), and, if your friend wishes, corsages. And the coat-procedure she has in mind will be proper and most convenient.

★ ★

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—My husband and I are celebrating our 25th wedding anniversary on a Sunday afternoon next month. We would like to know if we should have attendants; for example, a bridesmaid and a best man.

2—Also, would it be proper for me to wear an afternoon dress, street-length?

W. A.

1—If you mean . . . do you? that you and your husband are planning to have the marriage ceremony repeated, you may, if you wish, each have an attendant, recalling in this way, too, the original marriage ceremony.

2—Yes, if you wish to, and if you wish to register informality.

Watch Shoulder Pads

By BETTINA BEDWELL

A LOT COULD be said about the shoulder pad and its abuses, but I haven't time for much. What I want to remind you of today is the shoulder pads in your dresses. I notice that they have a way of slipping down to the front of the shoulders, or at the back, when they look like ugly goiters. This is particularly so if they happen to be huge pads, as is often the case.

I don't think anybody needs enormous pads in a dress, and if your dresses have them, then you ought to see that they stay where they belong, on top of your shoulders. If the dress is transparent, so the pad shows through, I see no excuse for its existence. It can't do anything but make you look comic. It isn't going to fool anybody as to your actual shoulder lines.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

LADY SUGGESTS LEAVING—It's the lady who should suggest starting home or terminating a visit. If she seems to have "forgotten the time," however, her escort may tactfully remind her. Although etiquette decrees that she "make the move," it is sensible for him to do so if they have to get a train or have a long trip ahead of them.

Laughton's 'Captain Kidd' Packs Plenty of Thrills

By MARY X. SULLIVAN

All the boys from six to 60 will enjoy "Captain Kidd," a top-notch pirate film which opened yesterday at the Tremont and Old South.

Indeed, it is likely that quite a few of the allegedly frail sex will like it too, although the love interest is a very small part of the picture.

This Bogeaus-United Artists production brings Charles Laughton back to the screen in a role which fits him like a leotard. A swashbuckling, smooth villain with a heart of ice, he plays the 17th century buccaneer to the hilt.

Randolph Scott is excellent as the son of a nobleman who has been a victim of Captain Kidd. Scott sails with the wily pirate when the latter, accepted as a loyal subject of the king, commands a British vessel and is assigned to escort a treasure-laden ship through the Spanish main.

Laughton's villainous accomplices are convincingly portrayed by John Carradine, Gilbert Roland, John Qualen and Sheldon Leonard. Reginald Owen is excellent as the captain's manservant.

Late in the picture Barbara Britton makes the first feminine intrusion into the film, as the daughter of the English peer who is bringing the treasure from India. Naturally she and the incognito young nobleman fall in love, and he rescues her by feats of wonderful derring-do from death or worse.

'Traviata' Delightful

Verdi's "La Traviata" with Virginia Pemberton, formerly a prima donna of the Chicago Opera Company, in the name part was presented last night by the Boston Grand Opera Company at the Opera House. Most beautifully dressed of all Traviatas, Miss Pemberton accentuated the tragic character of the part and sang the role of the pathetic French heroine with a sympathic touch.

Franco Perulli, one of the best of light tenors, supported Miss Pemberton most effectively in a cast that included Robert Shilton as the elder Germont and Mona Van as Flora.

Otto Lehman directed with a lively beat.

"Faust" will be sung tonight with Ina de Martino, Georgiana Bourdon, Russell Roberts, and Claudio Frogerio in the leading roles.

Bruins Need 6 Weeks to Reach Peak of Ice Form

By JACK CONWAY

THE GREAT crowd in the Garden witnessed a brilliant, colorful show as the Kitchener Kids and other Bruins' heroes returned to the scene of their former triumphs. Even their 5 to 4 defeat by the Chicago Blackhawks as the 1945-1946 hockey season opened here did not spoil the grand occasion. It was to be expected that players like Dumart, Schmidt, Bauer and Reardon would be a bit slow in their skating and also off in their timing, but they proved in the most convincing style they still possess the old flash and daring that carried them to the heights in ice competition.

The returning Bruins players are about six weeks away from top form. They will require more hard practice sessions and actual games to bring them to the top of their form. Art Ross knew this before the Blackhawks game and he did not make any secret of his views. Ross told newsmen that the Bruins would not be at their best until the holidays.

Art Ross

Dumart, Schmidt and Bauer possessed fire and color as they went whirling down the ice. What would normally have been successful scoring players failed to click on account of the fact that the returning service men were slower than usual in their skating, while they lacked the split-second timing so essential to send the disc whizzing into the cage.

Veterans like Bill Cowley and Dit Clapper, who played hockey during the war, were more sure of themselves on the ice as was to be expected.

Crowd Very Enthusiastic

IT WAS A wildly, enthusiastic crowd. The fans were also partisan as is so typical of hockey gatherings. The Bruins were the darlings of the crowd, while the Blackhawks, who played an exceptionally good game, did not receive too much applause. The Blackhawks will have to wait until they play in the Chicago Stadium to gain proper appreciation of their efforts.

Hockey fans the world over are for the home team at all times. Its players can do no wrong. An official who penalizes a home player regardless of the merits of the verdict is always in error. One thing about Mr. and Mrs. Hockey Fan is that they are consistent in their likes and dislikes.

Art Ross was satisfied with the showing of his club as he knows that with so many stars back that the Bruins will go places this season. Return of Frankie Brimsek, goalie, by the first of next year will give the Bruins needed defensive strength. The club has been weak at goal ever since Brimsek enlisted in the Coast Guard.

★ ★ ★

Sees Record Season

CHARLES F. ADAMS, who brought professional hockey to Boston attended the game.

"Hockey should have one of its biggest seasons," said Adams. "I was impressed by the size and enthusiasm of the crowd that saw the game. Players on both clubs are still a little bit soft, but they will be better with each game.

"The returning Bruins showed they need more skating and practice in passing the disc while flying down the ice."

Adams told this writer that his son, Lt. Com. Weston W. Adams, president of the Bruins, is on the way to Okinawa as the executive officer on a Navy supply ship.

"I know Weston will be pleased to hear of the success of the opening game," said Adams.

Colorful Entrance

THE RIVAL clubs made a colorful entrance into the Garden. With Frank Ryan speaking over the public address system, the Blackhawks were first introduced.

The various Bruins' players were then introduced with the Kitchener Kids being presented together. The players received a tremendous reception from the big crowd.

Harold J. Kern, publisher of the Hearst Boston newspapers, thanked the Bruins' management, the management of the Garden and the public for giving their full support to the game. The entire receipts of the contest were given to the Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser.

The Coast Guard band played stirring and lively music. The big gathering stood at attention as "The Star Spangled Banner" was played.

Included in the great crowd were many wounded veterans. Many of them were moved into the Garden in wheelchairs and were attended by nurses.

Hockey added to its record of service for war charities as the Bruins and Blackhawks put on their thrilling show.

Drive Big Green For Syracuse

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 25 (AP)—Snapping the whip over the Dartmouth gridsters yesterday, Coach Tuss McLaughry pushed the Indians through morning and afternoon practice sessions in an effort to prepare them for Syracuse on Saturday.

In a heated scrimmage against the junior varsity second string backfield composed of freshmen stole the spotlight from the regulars. The second stringers were Joe Sullivan, quarterback, Bob O'Brien, fullback, Bob Becker, right half and Gene Howard, left half.

Another freshman who drew praise from McLaughry and Line Coach Hoops Snively was right guard Jim Biggie.

Lone standout of the regulars was co-Capt. Meryll Frost. The veteran soldier and grinder made several long runs before he was removed for the day.

Ernie Robinson to Meet Fred Camuso

Ernie (Cat) Robinson of New York clashes with Freddie Camuso of Fall River in the feature fray of 10 rounds at the Fall River Casino tonight. The local boy may have his hands full as Robinson has met and defeated such boys as Sonny Horne, Red Doty and Broadway Johnny Jones and secured a draw with Harold Graham.

ANGOTT DOWN TWICE, WINS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Although knocked down twice, Sammy Angott, former lightweight champion, now a welterweight, was awarded a 10-round judges decision last night over Danny Kapilow, Brooklyn. Both weighed 143.

The decision was greeted by the fans with prolonged boos.

Bruin-Hawk Tilt Yields Veteran Fund $21,456

By BILL GRIMES

"Naturally, I didn't like to lose that game on such a goal," declared Mgr. Art Ross last night following his Bruins' 5 to 4 setback by Chicago Blackhawks, before a partisan crowd of 13,901, which "grossed" $21,456.74 for American-Record-Advertiser Disabled Veterans of World War II Fund.

"But, I realized that we were not ready for a club, which started its training soon ten days or two weeks before us and had played two games against Kansas City and three against Rangers."

Manager Ross' remark about "such a goal" was in reference to the one Capt. "Bill" Hamill scored with forty-five seconds to play and brought victory to the Windy City club.

Don Gallinger

The Bruins protested that Hamill was offside when he beat Jack Crawford and Dit Clapper to a loose puck and, quick as a flash, Don Gallinger flashed back hard the disc into the nets.

"As I have stated time and again, since I returned home," continued Ross, "it will be at least, a month before we will click. Hockey is the fastest game on earth. It means split second thinking and decisions. Many of our players have been out of organized hockey for from one to three and a half years.

FLYERS SHOW FLASHES

"We were at Quebec City for only 12 days. We had 19 practice sessions and played only one game, which was against the Olympics.

"After what I saw tonight, I'm perfectly satisfied that we will have a winning club and that before the end of the season we will have squad accounts with all of the club that pushed us around, almost at will for the past three years."

Although the game was a thriller, the Bruins were below par. Yet, all five Chicago goals were more or less tainted. The tally credited to Clint Smith in the opening period, which put the Hawks out in front 1 to 0, was kicked into the cage by Jack Church. The second and third Chicago marker was made while the Bruins were short-handed. Then, Paul Bibeault went to the ice before "Red" Hamill shot on the fourth goal and the final tally, also by Hamill, was questioned, but to no avail, by the Bruins.

The Flyers (Bauer, Schmidt and Dumart) showed flashes of their old time form, especially in the opening period, during which with a break or two, they would have broken into the scoring column. They made a number of very smart plays. They appeared to know just where to be at all times.

Bill Cowley came through with two goals and the fans are confident that the "Cowboy" hasn't lost any of his scoring cunning.

The Kid Line, which had Don Gallinger as its play maker and Beppo Gudolin and Bill Shill on the flanks, turned in a grand night's work. "Gally" back-handed a Gudolin pass home for the first Boston marker and in the second period, fed Bill Shill a drop pass, which the former Canadian sailor whipped home for the prettiest goal of the game.

The Hawks are far superior to last season. Coach Johnny Gottselig has a squad of speed merchants, who really hound the puck. It's been many moons since a Chicago club back-checked as effectively as the Hawks did last night.

It looks like a battle royal for the N.H.L. title.

5000 Turned Away As B's Pack Garden

In order to attend last night's game, President Mervyn "Red" Dutton, "King" Clancy and George Gravel sat up all night in a coach from Montreal. They had planned to fly down but their flight was canceled, leaving them no alternative but a coach.

The pre-game ceremonies had a distinct Hollywood premiere touch. Each Bruin player received an ovation but when the Flyers were announced, the fans almost lifted the roof off the Garden.

"That was one game, which would have filled Fenway Park," declared "Dit" Clapper. The 13,901 fans, who were jammed into the North Station Arena contributed $21,456.74 to the American-Record-Advertiser Disabled Veterans of World War II Fund. At least, 5000 were turned away, but some waited until the middle of the second period, hoping to pick up tickets.

The Bruins protested that Capt. "Red" Hamill was offside when he picked up that loose puck and back handed home the goal, which gave the Blackhawks a 5 to 4 victory.

For two hours and a half yesterday afternoon, Pres. Dutton, Manager Art Ross, Coach Johnny Gottselig, Referees "King" Clancy, Bill Chadwick and George Gravel and Linesmen Ag Smith and Bill Cleary went over the rules, almost word for word.

Tommy McCarthy, the custodian of the press box, was in fine fettle last night. Tommy is at his best during the hockey seasons and in honor of his old co-worker, Joe Gildea, who was in the U. S. Army for three years, he wore a crimson bow tie.

The Bruins will leave for Toronto tomorrow afternoon and as there is no practice scheduled for today, the Flyers, Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart, will head for Kitchener today. Young Art Ross will be in charge. After Saturday's game in the Queen City, the Rossmen will jump over to Detroit for a Sunday engagement with the Red Wings.

Terry Reardon had to retire in the third period. Last week in Quebec City, Terry received a leg injury and last night one of the Hawks' defensemen cracked him right on the sore spot. Once he rounds into shape, Terry Reardon is going to be the Darling of the Gallery Gods, not to mention a grand asset to the Bruins.

There were only two penalties called. Bill Shill drew the first one for interference and the second went to Bobby Bauer for charging Johnny Mariucci. Two of the Chicago goals were rung up while the Bruins were shorthanded, Max Bentley making both tallies.

There isn't any question but that the new "icing" rule has cut down the whistles, which, of course, makes for faster hockey.

Jack McGill replaced Terry Reardon on the Cowley line in the third period and that shift sent Herbie Cain over to right wing. Then, Terry appeared with Don Gallinger and Beppo Guidolin.

Pres. Dutton is on his way to Toronto, where he will attend the Bruins-Maple Leaf game Saturday. Then, he will go to Detroit for Sunday's opener in the Motor City, and thence to Chicago for next Wednesday tilt between Rangers and the Hawks.

Lt. Ray Chaisson, who worked out with the Pics yesterday, started for Bermuda today. He hopes to be out of the service by the first of the year.

By BILL GRIMES.

Malden Catholic High Looks For Post-Season Grid Game

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Malden Catholic High School's football team—an outfit that could very well compile an undefeated state-wide record—already is on the prowl for a post-season game to be played the final week-end in November against any worthy opponent—barring nobody from Everett right down the lengthy list.

Coach Johnnie Prior, backed fully by Brother Cyril, CFX, wants this extra game to prove to grid experts that all he has said about his club from the start has been true.

Malden has made bids for open dates to practically all of its nearby rivals but none are anxious to pick up the challenge. One public school is still holding open the post-season offer but if this falls through, Boston College High might still be available. And that's the pattern that the authorities are following in the quest for recognition in Class competition.

An example of the spirit at MC is the return of Pat Deegan to the squad—and now to a first string berth.

Deegan was declared ineligible on a technicality as a sophomore. Before he was reinstated, his father had died so that he was forced to give up school. He took over his dad's trucking business, continued in night school to keep up with his class. Now, with his brother Tom handling the transportation angles, Pat has picked up with the senior class. He's only 17 years old and his 170 pounds have fitted nicely into the backfield since Bob Shea injured his knee.

Deegan has been operating with qb Joe McGinley, 147-pounds, fb Jerry O'Leary, 160, and Dan Bennett, 170-pound star of the team. Bennett can't miss All Catholic League rating again this year and Springfield's Billy Wise would rate him with any ball-carrying back he's seen in recent years.

In the line, Coach Prior has an outstanding end in Fran "Tan" Doherty, co-captain, who's playing pants this season and he's had two touchdowns recalled. He has Bill Roche, 140-pound senior, on the other wing.

In between, Malden has plenty of weight at the tackles in co-captain John McQuaid, 208, and Jim Looney, 205, both veterans. Jack Doherty, 170, and Tom Malloy, 193, have moved up from the subs to first stringers at guards with George McCormick, 155, taking the same jump at center.

Other Malden Catholic players who will see service include: backs—Gino DeGeralamo, Walter Land, Henry Silvera, Joe Wilkins, a transfer from Boston Commerce, Bob Miller, Fran Griffin, Paul Callahan, Don Murray, Ed Wheeler, Don LaBossiere, John Moran, Leo McHugh; ends—Bob Shannon, Bob Ford, Paul Bennett, Bob McDonald, Phil DiSario; tackles—Joe Palotta, Pete Lynch, Dan Davis, Mike Doohin; guards Paul Dumas, Jim McMurrer, George McDonald, Don Gaudette; centers—Buddy Smith, John Bennett, Paul Shannon.

That's the team that Coach Prior will stack against any in the state. Just step up with a bid!

The schedule, after (at) St. Mary's of Waltham Sunday, lists: Somerville, Nov. 2; (at) Keith Academy, Nov. 11; Immaculate, Nov. 18; St. Clement's, Thanksgiving Day.

Eagles at Peak for Kings Point Battle

With many of their injured players available, except for Ed Cronin, Boston College will be in top shape to take on the Kings Point eleven on next Saturday afternoon.

Judging from the records it appears that the Eagles will be entering the contest as the underdog team. This has not been uncommon to B.C. for the last two years, though, and the team usually turns in a much better effort when classified as such.

There has been no letup on scrimmages at Alumni Field for the past week, and Moody Sarno has his charges at a psychological peak. One of the most startling things that has taken place is that Tuck Twomey has been definitely appointed to the left tackle berth.

Thus Twomey will be starting in another position new to him, something he has already done in two previous games, as well as alternating at the center berth with Capt. George Donelan.

Now that Vic Pallidino has made an appearance at the Heights it seems entirely probable that the Boston College team that will face the late season opponents will present a much more formidable picture to the competitor. Pallidino is still in the Army but expects to be discharged in time to finish the season.

LINE IS BOLSTERED

Along with Pallidino Sarno now has Joe King, Fred Nedvins and Twomey to form the core of a strong line. King and Nedvins operate at the guard spots and Twomey will be at tackle. Some one of the guards, or Pallidino, also a guard, will most likely be converted to the other tackle slot to pair off with Twomey.

It was through the center of the line that Brown gained most of its yardage, but since that day all the above mentioned players have returned to Boston College. With the line bolstered Sarno can look forward to a successful completion of the season. Already he had devised a way to stop the Holy Cross practice of placing a defensive guard opposite the B. C. center, and the defense is not the obvious one that might imagined by the vociferous DaGrossa.

The backfield seems well able to take care of itself. The only position that might be classified as weak is the quarterback spot. With Ed Cronin definitely out for the remainder of the season Sarno will be giving Jake Maloney, of English High, more recognition.

Maloney is a very good punter and his passing is equally as good. Once he has gained enough practice in the handling of the T he ought to be capable of giving first string Jim McMorrow a run for his money.

Layden Looks Into Signing of Ed Jones

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (INS)—Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football League, said last night, that he is "scrutinizing" details of the signing by the Chicago Bears of Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, former University of Pittsburgh backfield star.

"A decision will be announced when all facts are gathered," Layden said.

His investigation follows a charge by the San Francisco Clippers of the Pacific Coast League that Jones, who signed a Bear contract last Saturday, was under contract to the coast eleven.

Yale Loses Marty Dwyer, Center

NEW HAVEN Ct. Oct. 25 (AP)—Marty Dwyer, counted on by Coach Howie Odell to take over the center duties of Albert (Bull) Montano in the Yale forward wall suffered a knee injury in yesterday's prepartion for the Cornell game Saturday and is expected to be on the sidelines for two weeks.

Tentatively tagged for center in Saturday's lineup is William Overlook, of River Forest, Ill., a recently discharged Army officer who as a member of the 1942 team was a frequent replacement for Capt. Spencer Moseley.

In Shooting—Lying near a Chicago bar Joseph McKnight is receiving assistance from police after he was found shot. He died later and Julius (Dollie) Weisberg is being held without charge by police. AP Wirephoto

Shoe Lasters Strike—Leaving a mass meeting in Lithuanian Hall, Montello, today, these striking shoe lasters demand a 25 per cent pay boost and have instructed their price committee to continue negotiations after rejecting a compromise offer to increased wages. Other members of shoe crafts walked off their jobs in sympathy and the strike threatens to completely shut down 27 shoe factories in the Brockton area.

Co-Captains

Much credit for the enviable score that Malden Catholic High has build up this year is credited to co-captains John McQuaid, rt, and Tannie Doherty, end, who have been proving dangerous to opponents.

'See?'
